GOLF TIP: HITTING INTO THE WIND AND DOWNWIND

When hitting into the wind, swing easier. A smooth swing will help you strike the ball more solidly. The harder you swing the more spin you will put on the ball, which is the opposite of what you want to do. To get less spin and lower ball flight, grip down on the club. Use less loft and take at least one extra club. Play the ball back in your stance just to the right of center. This will encourage a lower ball flight. When you are hitting downwind, distance control on iron shots is more challenging. Land the ball in the front or short of the green allowing it to release to the hole. Take one less club than normal or swing the club you would normally hit very easy. Widen your stance for better balance in the wind.
