DID YOU KNOW

The green on Hole #1 and #8 was designed to be Notah Begay and Ty Butler's ode to links golf and inspired by St. Andrews. This is an enormous double green that is 29,000 square feet! If you overshoot the pin and are long on your approach, you could potentially have a very long putt back to the pin. The enormous green makes for some fun putts and a lot of pin locations. You want to be below the hole as much as possible on either the first or eighth green so you can have an uphill putt to the hole. If you hit a solid approach shot, you will have a good chance at making a birdie.

TEMPORARY GOLF COURSE AND PRACTICE FACILITY CLOSURE

The golf course and practice facility are CLOSED from Monday, November 9th - Thursday, November 12th due to a private event.

MERCHANDISE PRODUCT OF THE MONTH – TITLEIST SM11 WEDGES

Titleist SM11 wedges are available in the golf shop and for special order. The SM11 wedges feature new technology to produce clean contact, control flight, and grooves engineered for maximum spin. Vokey design SM11 wedges provide a leading combination of lofts, bounces, and grinds to sharpen your short game. The directional face texture increases friction and ball contact time. This allows the grooves to impart more consistent spin on delicate greenside shots. The Vokey spin system delivers the right amount of spin from any lie and play the shots you have always wanted to hit.

GOLF TIP: FRIED EGG LIE IN GREENSIDE BUNKER

For a fried egg or buried lie bunker shot, you want to have the clubface square. A square clubface will allow the club to dig into the bunker. If the lie is not good in the sand, you can play more centered in your stance instead of forward. Hinge your wrists early to allow the club to swing on a steep angle. Hit two inches behind the ball. Accelerate into the sand with minimal follow through. The ball will run out more with almost no spin.
